

Tools for Clear Speech (TfCS) FA24

Tools for Clear Speech (TfCS) Spring 2024 was a semester of strong student participation and collaboration among various campus departments and faculty. Although resources remain strained, the program was able to increase its instructional efficiency to post a modest increase in hours of instruction provided. Moreover, TfCS continues to expand its collaboration with various programs and academic departments across the college. In Spring 2024, TfCS provided core instructional services to almost 200 students, and facilitated our Belonging at Baruch: Accent, Identity, and Ethical Listening workshop for students in the SEEK Transfer Seminar. TfCS also supported 7 students in the WSAS MFE program; 11 ZSB PhD students; 75 SWUFE students; and 31 students in COM 3021-T, which it co-coordinates with the Dept. of Com Studies. In collaboration with the Writing Center, TfCS once again hosted an International Mother Language Day celebration in the NVC 2nd floor lobby, which was attended by dozens of students. Perhaps most notably, Curriculum Specialist Kimberly Edmunds visited the South Western University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) in Chengdu, China, where she ran workshops for 100+ students and worked to deepen our partnership with incoming SWUFE cohorts.
